FUND OBJECTIVE

To achieve long-term capital appreciation with less overall risk than the equity market by implementing a disciplined, rules-based investment process tactically focusing on global asset class ETFs experiencing the greatest strength.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Fund invests in a portfolio of global asset class ETFs. The ETFs that may be held in the portfolio include those that invest in U.S. equities of any market capitalization, foreign (including emerging markets) equities of any market capitalization, U.S. Treasury securities or cash.

- ETFs are ranked each month according to a relative strength score using three different proprietary formulas based on relative and absolute momentum:
 - Relative Momentum: Rank all potential equity ETFs against each other.
 - Absolute Momentum: Rank each equity ETF against the risk-free asset (U.S. Treasury Bonds and cash).
- The top ranked ETFs are purchased and held until they fall out of ranking. They are then replaced with the new top-ranked ETFs.
- The Portfolio will generally include between 1 and 3 ETFs, depending on the results of each proprietary selection formula.

The AlphaCentric Asset Rotation Fund seeks to offer investors superior risk-adjusted returns with limited drawdown relative to equities by tactically investing in the asset classes experiencing the most strength.

✓ Tactical & Flexible Approach

The Fund seeks to allocate to the global asset class exchange traded funds (ETFs) experiencing the most strength each month. The goal is to generate superior risk-adjusted returns in any economic environment.

✓ Seeks Downside Protection

If the proprietary screens used to rank the strength of each asset class demonstrate weakness in equities, the Fund may invest only in U.S. Treasury Bond ETFs and/or cash, potentially limiting equity market drawdowns.

✓ Disciplined Strategy

We use a proprietary, rules-based approach to select the global asset class ETFs demonstrating the most strength.

Investing in the Fund carries certain risks. The value of the Fund may decrease in response to the activities and financial prospects of an individual security in the Fund's portfolio. The Fund is non-diversified and may invest a greater percentage of its assets in a particular issue and may own fewer securities than other mutual funds. The performance of the Fund may be subject to substantial short term changes. Because the Fund may invest in other investment companies such as ETFs, the value of your investment will fluctuate in response to the performance of the acquired funds. Investing in acquired funds involves certain additional expenses and certain tax results that would not arise if you invested directly in the securities of the acquired funds. Foreign companies are generally not subject to the same regulatory requirements of U.S. companies thereby resulting in less publicly available information about these companies. Foreign accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards generally differ from those applicable to U.S. companies. Investing in emerging markets involves additional risks, including exposure to economic structures that are generally less diverse and mature, and to political systems that can be expected to have less stability than those of developed countries. When the Fund invests in fixed income securities (U.S. Treasuries), the value of your investment in the Fund will fluctuate with changes in interest rates. Typically, a rise in interest rates causes a decline in the value of fixed income securities owned by the Fund. These factors may affect the value of your investment.
